To Whom It May Concern:

I strongly recommend Ryan Spevack for a position in the film industry. Ryan is a go-getter with an extremely strong work ethic that helps to get any project that he works on taken to completion. He is able to understand and communicate both the intermediate goals and big picture to facilitate a smooth running operation. These skills make him not only an efficient leader but also a great worker who is willing to jump in and get things done when the need arises.

I've instructed Ryan in many classes and have watched his skills and enthusiasm grow over the years. He enjoys the process of movie-making, soaks in information from every project and he works well under pressure.

Feel free to contact me if you have any questions. I would be happy to discuss Ryan further.
